ABOUT THE PHOTOGRAPHER---After a computing career spanning nearly 30 years, John W. Snell shifted his focus to full-time nature photography. His work has appeared in Outdoor Photographer, Popular Photography, Keeneland and Southern Living magazines. A juried member of Kentucky Crafted: The Market and The Kentucky Guild of Artists & Craftsmen, he has won honors for various Lexington Art League and Creative Camera Club competitions. His earlier book, Red River Gorge, The Eloquent Landscape, released in late 2006, gained popular acclaim during its years in print. John and his wife, Anne, live in Lexington, Ky.

“The quality of a great nature photographer is one who can capture the essence of a moment, whether it is a vista of a sweeping landscape or a close-up view of frozen ice patterns on a pond. John Snell is one of those great nature photographers. Combining his passion for nature and his skill as an extraordinary photographer, John captures moments that convey a true sense of place.

— Jim Clark, Contributing Editor, Outdoor Photographer Magazine & Nature Photography Instructor, Chincoteague Bay Field Station
